MISSING TREASURE HUNT BOAT—This is a view of the fishing boat Pisces, owned by Capt. Gordon S. Patton of Ocean City, Md., and Pompano Beach, Fla., which is overdue at Jamaica and the object of a U. S. Coast Guard search. Patton and six others sailed aboard the vessel from Pompano Beach to search for sunken treasure near Jamaica. The official Cuban radio claims seven Americans looking like frogmen have been arrested in eastern Cuba.

Frogmen's Return From Cuba Is Sought By U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven U.S. skindivers arrested in Cuba were described by Secretary of State Dean Rusk Friday night as innocent treasure-hunters, seeking the sunken riches of the Spanish Main.

Rusk said the State Department expects to get them released.

But a Havana television commentator said the seven may be treated as invaders by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime.

The State Department said it was asking Switzerland to check on the seven men and arrange for their return to the United States. The Swiss have handled U.S. relations with Cuba since this country severed diplomatic ties with the Castro regime.

He said the captured men were on a sports voyage to Jamaica to explore for treasure. Rusk was in Baton Rouge for the inauguration of Dr. John A. Hunter Jr. as president of Louisiana State University.

He went straight from the airport to the news conference and identified the seven as innocent adventurers.

Arrest Announced

Havana radio announced arrest of the seven men off the north coast of Oriente Province Thursday morning. But they were not identified in broadcasts monitored at Key West, Fla.

Speculation had mounted that the seven were missing American treasure hunters sought by the Coast Guard. They were cruising the Caribbean on an undescended hunt for sunken treasure ships.

Relatives of the missing men speculated they might have drifted into Cuban waters if their boat broke down.

Authorities said the area has been in "an abnormal situation" since the government broke diplomatic relations with Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban regime and with Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia four days ago.

Santo Domingo de los Colorados, 45 miles west of Quito, is in the jungle-clad Andean foothills. The insurgents were described as members of the pro-Castro Revolutionary Union of Ecuadorian Youth. Part of the membership has received military and guerrilla training in Cuba, informants said.

Interior Minister Alfredo Albozino declined to give any details of the fighting or to comment on unconfirmed reports of similar uprisings in the Quevedo area in west-central Ecuador.

The diplomatic break with Cuba was forced by the Ecuadorian army, which also pressured Arosemena into reorganizing his Cabinet and shedding left-leaning policies.

Monitor Broadcasts

The Havana broadcasts were monitored at The Associated Press listening post in Key West.

The Coast Guard said Friday night it had called off the search for the missing Americans, which had been continued after the Cuban broadcast because the men arrested were not identified.

Search was discontinued pending further developments, the Coast Guard said.

The search was in the passage between Oriente Province, in eastern Cuba, and the Dominican Republic. The seven missing men were aboard the 45-foot boat Pisces, overdue at Kingston, Jamaica, after departing Pompano Beach, Fla., Saturday night.

Identified As

They were identified as Gordon S. Patton, 62, Ocean City, Md., charter boat and maritime museum operator; Fred Dickson Jr., 32, formerly of Ocean City, N.J., assistant cruise director; Mike Freeman, 37, Washington, D.C., underwater photographer; John Sterry, 28, Brewster, N.Y.; John Johnson and Joe Campbell, Washington, D.C., and Bernie Nistad, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Ellen Patton said at Pompano Beach that her husband and the six other men carried a two-man submarine and scuba diving and photographic equipment for exploring sunken ships in the Caribbean.

Dickson's father, wintering in Pompano Beach, said the men also had a pistol and a rifle aboard.

In Washington, Lee Fuller, Freeman's partner in an underwater equipment store, said the trip was for treasure hunting only and equipment aboard the Pisces was useful only for that purpose.

He said the men carried a small supply of dynamite for use if it proved feasible for blasting away coral which may have formed on the wrecks.

Found In Den

Brenhouse's body was found

Thursday in the den of his Westchester County home here. He had been shot Wednesday night by someone who held a gun only a short distance from his temple.

Brenhouse, with a variety of business interests that included mortgage foreclosures, was quick to go into court. He had been involved in dozens of court actions growing out of his financial operations.

"It definitely is murder," said

Westchester Dist. Att. Leonard Rubenstein. "There could be many motives. He was involved in lots of litigation and may have hurt some people."

Sees It Differently

However, Brenhouse's lawyer, William Greer, saw it differently. He declared: "He was more than a millionaire and was engaged in litigations, but nothing that would lead to murder."

Business associates were questioned by investigators as to whether he was Brenhouse's estranged wife, Nora, 50, who lived next door to him with their four children.

In a separation suit in 1951, Mrs. Brenhouse complained that her husband was friendly with four other women, whom she identified only by initials.

This separation suit was followed by a reconciliation, but in 1954 Mrs. Brenhouse won another separation. However, she lived in a split-level home Brenhouse built for her next to his own house and he frequently dined there with her and the children.

"The letter contains false statements and accusations," Mrs. Gaillot told dozen newspapermen at her apartment. "I want an explanation of these charges, and I'm patiently waiting to go before Archbishop Rummel to clear up this matter."

The letter from the archbishop said in part: "In the spirit of fathershly solicitude we deem it our duty to admonish you that any further attempt by you through word or deed to hinder our orders or provoke our devoted people to disobedience or rebellion against the Church will subject you to excommunication. This censure will be automatic by virtue of the present monition. If this fathershly warning is not heeded, we shall feel constrained to publish a declaratory sentence of excommunication."

The letter began with an assertion that Mrs. Gaillot, who has two children in Catholic schools and who heads a prosegregation group, "promoted flagrant disobedience to the decision to open our schools to ALL our Catholic children and have even threatened and incited others to take reprisals, legal and otherwise, against our action."

Toward a Mature Faith

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 16:1-2; II Timothy.

The apostle Paul, imprisoned in Rome and chained to a Roman soldier day and night, sensed that his death was at hand. In his last written words, he sends instructions to his "spiritual son," Timothy.—II Timothy.

To rekindle Timothy's zeal, Paul reminds him that the gift of God is in him and that since he was a babe he has known "the sacred writings" which lead to salvation through faith.—II Timothy 1:6, 3:14-15.

Timothy is to lay hold of this and all else, to "preach the word." He is also to pass on what he has learned from Paul to "faithful men who will be able to teach others also."

—II Timothy 4:1-5; 2:2.

Timothy is to avoid men who are "lovers of self." They are "lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God, holding the form of religion" but denying its power.—II Timothy 3:2-5.

GOLDEN TEXT: II Peter 3:18.

Today's Lesson: Toward A Mature Faith

By N. SPEER JONES

THE LETTER we study today was cited by the great Reformation leader John Calvin as "more profitable to me than any other book of Scripture."

The inspiration Calvin found in II Timothy stems in part from the fact that Paul wrote it under sentence of imminent death, suspecting perhaps that these might be his last written words. Imprisoned in Rome, he apparently had been chained day and night to a Roman soldier for two years. This letter certainly qualifies as one of "faith, counsel and courage."

Furthermore, in this letter we find what is generally considered the Bible's most inspiring statement of its own preeminence—in chapter 3, verses 14-17. In fact,

Paul's major point, on the threshold of death, was the absolute necessity of preaching the Word; no matter what else Timothy did, he was to proclaim God's message of salvation (II Timothy 4:1-2).

The core of God's message is, of course, the Scriptures. As Paul says, "All scripture is inspired of God," (II Timothy 3:16), or breathed by God.

In the light of such revelations, it is difficult to understand the sophistry of even certain religious leaders who slight or even discount the Scriptures as convention; some have even advocated the writing of a new Bible.

This letter is also important as containing the first evidence of a Christian theological school—that is, a school which not only provides for teaching the unenlightened, but for preserving and nourishing a specific body of doctrine. In verse 2 of chapter 2, Paul asks Timothy to transmit to faithful men those things which he, Timothy, heard Paul preach, so that these men in turn can pass it on to contact with other faithful men, etc.

Many Christians who believe strongly in an individualized approach to their religion, support an organized church because they appreciate the moral rightness of every other individual's having exposure, first-hand, to the basic core of Christianity, unadulterated by individual variations.

They realize that when a truth is passed down merely by word of mouth from generation to generation, it changes radically over the years, in the way that legends grow up around historical events and personages. The best protection against such alteration is through organized religion—a church with its body of doctrine, based on the Scriptures and taught conscientiously in a theological school.

It is interesting to note, in this connection, that in Paul's time, oral teaching was deemed infinitely more important than written teaching, not only because of the paucity of literacy, but because of the prevalent belief that the second coming of Christ was imminent and therefore written records would have only short-term value.

To return once more to Calvin, we see that he has also been impressed by Paul's dark warnings of the future and his listings of contributing characteristics. The first of these is self-love, and Calvin said, "Self-love may be regarded as the source from which flow all the vices that follow afterward."

CATHOLIC YOUTH OF YEAR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Margaret Ann Seefic, active in the Corpus Christi, Tex., Catholic Youth Organization for the past six years, has been named the Outstanding Catholic Youth of the Year.

Both Protestant and Roman Catholic leaders have cited the current readjustment. Prayers have been revised, educational materials screened, to square the perspective.

"It is bringing a tremendous revolution in the character of the church," said Dr. Soetendorp, who has spent much of the last

Jews Teach Christians, Vice Versa

Teachers of Christianity today are often Jews. And vice versa.

Like possessors of separate pieces of the same map, they're turning to each other to get their own accurate bearings.

"They've discovered that they have to know each other in order to understand themselves," said Dr. Jacob Soetendorp, of Holland, where the trend has been particularly pronounced.

They've discovered that they have to know each other in order to understand themselves," said Dr. Jacob Soetendorp, of Holland, where the trend has been particularly pronounced.

However, it also has mustered in this country, with increasing emphasis among Christians on their Jewish heritage, and a simultaneous rising interest among Jews in the New Testament.

Listening to a sermon on the radio is fine and the face behind the voice doesn't seem to bother you, but in church one has to look face to face at the speaker and this can cause all kinds of physical contortions, shifting positions every time the hat (?) in front of you moves. This is exhausting work and, with a stiff neck to boot, one can easily lose the spell that the interior decorators of Easter pagants create.

The Easter story is quite simple although we insist on making it complicated. We reduce it to vanity.

It is "show-off" time for too many people. The new finery is displayed and some "keeping up with the Joneses" is all too evident. Now new clothes are fine, but let's eight years explaining the Jewish background of Christianity to Christians.

The effort in both cases, he said, is not conversion, but mutual enrichment.

Parson To Parson

By R. G. MAC LEOD

EASTER Sunday, the greatest day in the Christian year, is here again. This is one day when almost everybody attends a church. Surprising isn't it, how there can be so many strange faces in your own church that you feel like a visitor in the place that you attend every Sunday throughout the year!

Last year I had to sit in the balcony and the scene below resembled a woodland carpet of flowers all nodding and swaying. If you half closed your eyes, it looked as if there was not a soul in church, all flowers, all the way to the pulpit.

Some of our places of worship have the altar so covered over with vegetation that it is extremely difficult to find the face of the parson, and you spend your time playing hide-and-seek with him while he is preaching.

We must so live as to be an example to others. How can others come to saving grace if we present an untrue picture of what life in Christ is, and perhaps even be the cause of others rejecting Him?

Easter may mean many things to many people, but to the Christian it is a time of rededication of self to a more pure and abundant life.

not puff up our pride in front of others who perhaps are not so fortunate."

The splendor of Easter is in the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead into eternal life, a gift that we may have from the Father if we will believe and follow the principles set forth by His Son.

Faith alone is not enough. Once we accept Christ as our Savior we must then live the life of a Christian. The old man of sin (our former selves) is cast off and we begin a new life of action under the teachings of Christ. The keynote is ACTION!

We must so live as to be an example to others. How can others come to saving grace if we present an untrue picture of what life in Christ is, and perhaps even be the cause of others rejecting Him?

Easter may mean many things to many people, but to the Christian it is a time of rededication of self to a more pure and abundant life.

Radio Series Scheduled To Begin Sunday

A NEW radio series designed to highlight the essential vitality of Bible teachings was announced today by the Christian Science church.

Starting Sunday more than 700 stations will broadcast the weekly 15-minute series called "The Bible Speaks to You." The programs describe how prayer can meet people in all walks of life.

They feature well-loved selections from the Bible, read against a background of organ music. Informal discussion brings out the practical application of these teachings.

"The Bible Speaks to You" replaces the series "How Christian Science Heals" which has been on the air every week since September 18, 1953. It is produced by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Opening the series this weekend is an introductory program on the subject "Why Read the Bible?" The commentator will be Ralph E. Wagers, a Christian Science teacher, practitioner, and editor. The host will be Harry Bacon Clark, who for many years was a CBS newscaster.

Locally the series may be heard over WNBC on Sunday at 7:30 a.m. and Sunday at 8:45 a.m.

Educators Discuss Regrouping

MONROE County School Directors and educators of the East Stroudsburg Area Joint Schools recently discussed the mandated reorganization of school districts in Pennsylvania. Many questions remain unanswered and will continue in that state until the next session of the General Assembly passes legislation on the mandated reorganization, it was concluded by the conferees.

They concluded that when a plan for Monroe County is submitted by county directors sometime before January 1963, it will call for a single school district for all of Monroe and two townships in Pike County which are jointure members.

Mandated reorganization as it will affect Monroe County was discussed by John C. Litts, county superintendent of schools and Walter H. Sebring, a assistant county superintendent, at a meeting in the high school cafeteria.

Litts and Sebring said the single unit would have a total enrollment of about 8,200 pupils. In addition to East Stroudsburg area schools, the unit would include schools of the Stroud Union District and the Pleasant Valley and Pocono Mountains jointures.

The district would function with one budget supported by revenue from a single tax rate for all county residents.

"Put all of the money together and determine how much it will cost to run the schools of the county — then you will get your mileage rate," Litts said.

Affairs would be administered by a school board, probably composed of nine elected members, and a district superintendent, to be named by the board.

All administrators now employed by the various districts would become a part of the single district, working under the district superintendent. There would be a director of curriculum and instruction and a business manager.

The status and tenure of teachers now employed in the county would remain the same, although teachers may be required to have bachelor's degrees and to teach only subjects in which they have majored.

One official compared the proposed reorganization to a football game without rules.

"Any way we work it out, it is going to work to somebody's disadvantage," Litts said. "I have heard it said that a single district will be more economical, but every time we have changed, it has not been less costly than that which we had before."

"It is possible that we will obtain more in the way of services for each dollar spent. But every time we add a teacher or a new service it costs money. It can reach a point of diminishing return, and that's the thing we want to avoid."

"It's rather obvious what we are going to have to do, whether we like it or not. If we must consolidate further it will be advantageous to all areas to be together."

The East Stroudsburg jointure, the district with the highest debt in the county, stands to realize the greatest benefit if the resources of all four districts are pooled, it was pointed out by one county director.

A Price Township director noted that attempts to consolidate the schools of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg have failed for 50 years.

"How do they anticipate these changes in less than a year?" he asked.

Stroud Union directors were quoted as saying that they would prefer to merge with the Pocono Mountains jointure rather than with East Stroudsburg, if two districts, instead of one, were planned. The Stroud board discussed reorganization with county officials earlier this week.

Sebring outlined the services which the reorganization plan is designed to provide. Some of these are already offered by the various districts, it was pointed out.

The proposed county plan must be accepted by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction and the state Council of Education. The state's plan calls for all administrative units contained in county reorganization plans to be established as school districts by July 1, 1965.

Harry Drennan, a county director, said it will be impossible to obtain the repeal of the reorganization act. It is still possible that the act may be amended, he said.

Carl T. Secor, supervising principal, said the governor's Committee on Education was assigned to determine the best system of education for the children of the state.

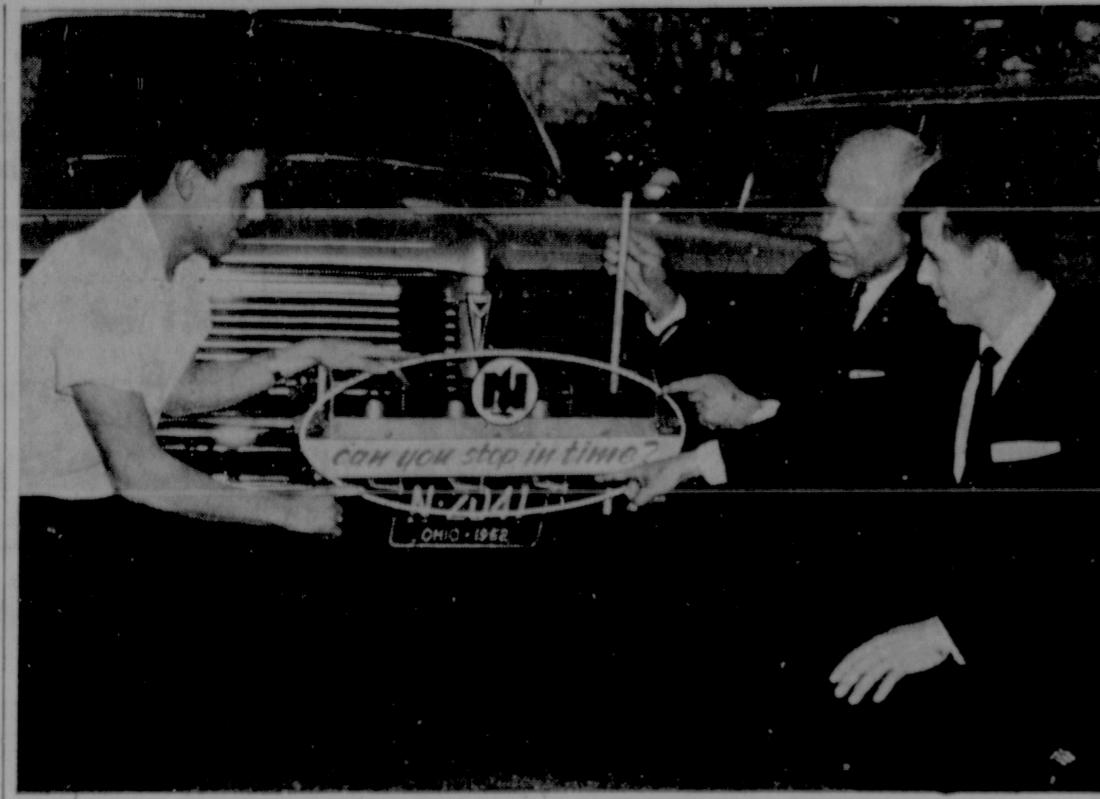

"The committee did the best job it could do, but it did not go far enough," he said, referring to the enabling legislation which is still needed before the act can be placed in operation.

3-Day Witnesses Parley Opens Before Big Turnout

"JEHOVAH'S Witnesses do not believe in just having faith but apply the words of James 2:17, 'Faith, if it does not have works, is dead in itself' ", stated Joseph Saia, the district supervisor of the Watchtower Society to the largest audience ever gathered for Christian worship and education at the East Stroudsburg Junior-Senior High School last night. Approximately 1,100 ministers attended.

Mr. Saia gave the keynote address of the three-day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses and spoke on the theme, "Faithfully Increasing Our Praise to Jehovah." Saia observed, "The Bible describes the religion of God's servants as vigorous, alive, active and energetic. Theirs was not the passive religion of the lazy, the indolent, the slothful or the sluggish."

He admonished the delegates, "Never allow dedicated time to be frittered away. Use it wisely in study and association with others who are spirited, vigilant and courageous. Avoid the course of those who 'kill time'. Our objective should be to 'faithfully increase our praise to Jehovah' not just counting time but rather making time count in helping others to serve God."

His talk was followed by a "Ministry School" conducted on the stage, Vincent Herbert of Tamaqua, Pennsylvania, gave an instruction talk on the Bible book Exodus. Then William Myers of Doylestown, Pennsylvania spoke on the subject, "Profanation of Jehovah's Name Brings A World's End." He showed how in the days of Noah, Jehovah's name was defamed resulting in Jehovah bringing about the flood thus cleansing the earth of the defamers of His Sovereign name.

The ministry development session was under the direction of Charles Homolka, the circuit supervisor of the Watchtower Society. He spoke on the theme, "Bearing Fruit in Every Good Work." He emphasized that Christians must be productive for Jesus recorded in John 15:2, "Every branch in me not bearing fruit he cleans, that it may bear more fruit."

Robert Hartman, presiding minister of the Lehighton Congregation spoke on the practicality of the theme in daily lives. "Christian maturity comes when we share the fruitage of our ministry with others," he stated. Kenneth Schaffer, assistant minister of the Allentown East Unit, demonstrated "Diligently Search for the Sheep." "How to Conduct Bible Studies Regularly" was featured by Kenneth Peters of the Northampton Congregation. Alvin Tietzworth, assistant minister of the Doylestown Congregation concluded the evening session by speaking on "Express Love of Neighbor."

Today's activities begin at 9 a.m. and the conventioners will hear Earl Ziegenguss, Jr. of the Slatington Congregation speak on "Increasing Praise to the True God."

Ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses will visit homes in the Stroudsburg area today and tomorrow to invite people to hear the keynote Bible talk on "Who Will Rule the World?" and encourage Bible education.

The afternoon session begins with a discourse by Joseph Saia on "Dedication and Baptism" at 1:30 p.m. New ministers will be baptized in the school's pool and thus publicly symbolize their dedication to be praisers of Jehovah.

The evening session will begin at 6:45 with song and ministerial experiences under the direction of Donald Rhoads, the assistant minister of the Nazareth Congregation.

The main speakers will be Joseph Saia and Charles P. Homolka.

Tomorrow will be the final day of the three-day gathering with the public discourse, "Who Will Rule The World?" at 3 p.m. Following an intermission a summary of the Bible subject "Two Pictures of Deliverance" as appearing in the "Watchtower" will be given by Joseph Niblock, presiding minister of the Doylestown Congregation. Two concluding discourses will bring to a close this gathering.

How Are We Doing?

Washington's new baby, the Area Redevelopment Administration, has come up with a report. So far it has allocated $82 million in loans and grants, it says, which sum is expected to create 4,588 jobs.

This is the outfit that was set up to combat unemployment in the so-called depressed areas. The President is asking that it be given $210 million to spend in the coming year.

Is the program a success? Does it show real promise? To get the picture it is necessary to break down these bulk figures.

The loans and grants already committed come to about $16,000 per job. This means that if this rate is kept up, and the program gets the new funds it asks, only something between 10,000 and 20,000 new jobs is involved in the coming years. The unemployed number is 4.5 million.

On the other hand, if the program were stepped up to make a real dent in America's unemployment, the cost would be truly staggering. To make a million new jobs this way would cost something like $16 billion.

Time Cut Would Help

Working on the time honored political practice of by-passing primaries, the two major parties in the Keystone State find that they are ready for the general election, and the time for the voters to go to the polls and rubber stamp the nominations is still some two months removed.

The primary was set up for the expressed purpose of allowing the members of each party to select as their candidates those who they feel can do the best job. The leaders, being more practical about it interpret the primary as the time to nominate those with the best chance of being elected.

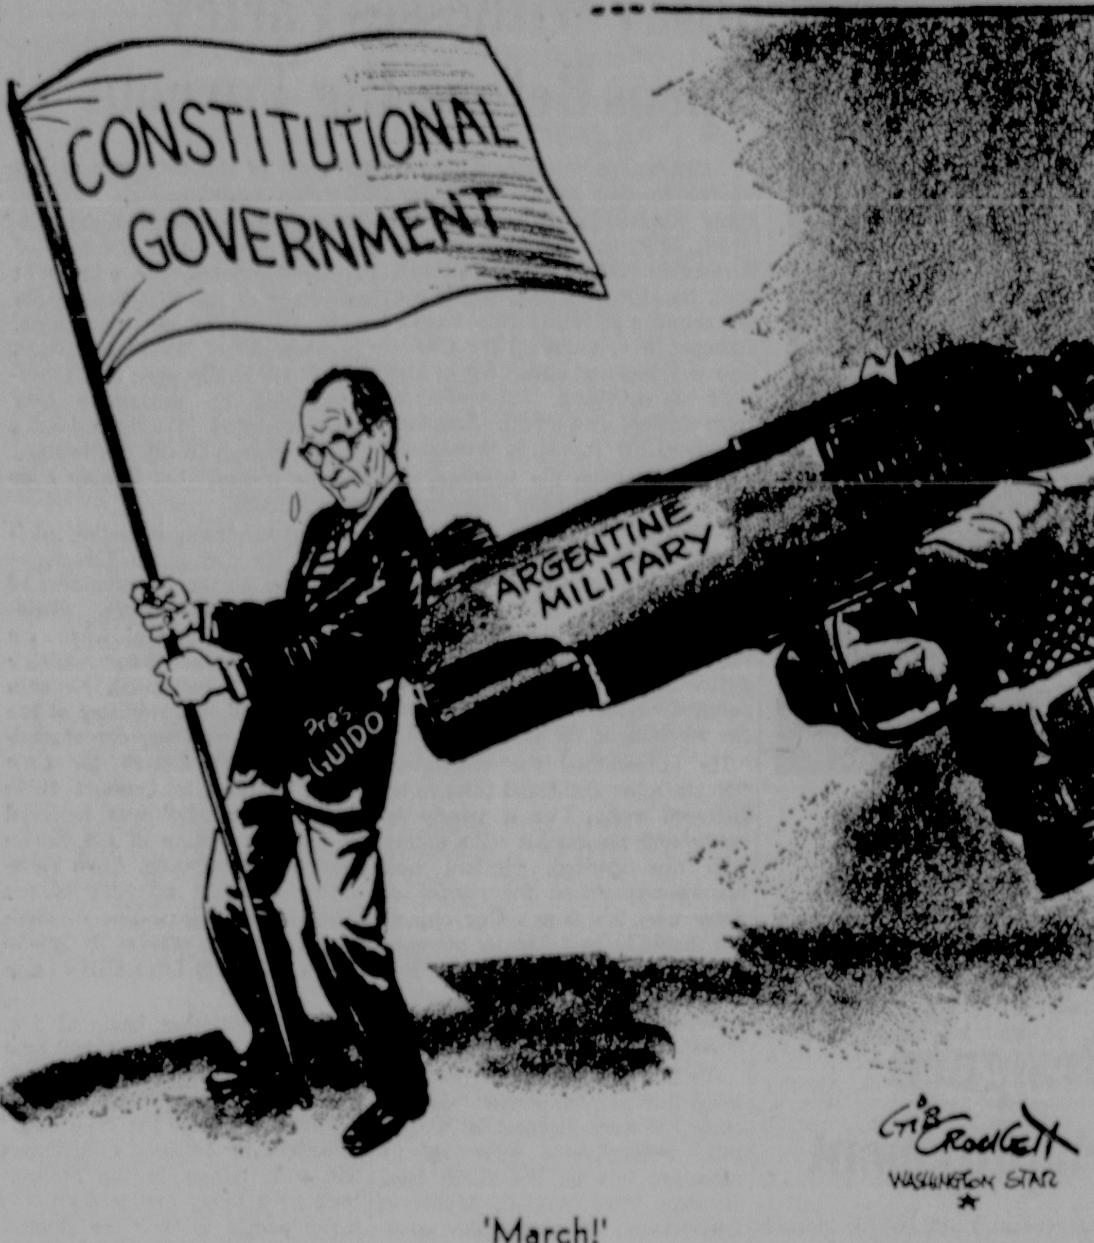

On this premise, the politicos get together and package a slate for the general election. There are a few who upset the apple cart now and then but usually this happens infrequently and just unless the new made-in-Washington jobs were in entirely new fields or served entirely new markets, the creation of new productive facilities in depressed areas would simply result in loss of similar jobs where they already exist.

The fact seems to be that unemployment is a problem too big for the government to tackle directly. If unemployment is to be reduced, it will have to be done by private means—which is the way most of the present jobs came into being. Only the millions of Americans who are interested in setting up and expanding businesses can make any real dent on this vast problem.

And they'll do it, too, if they're given half a chance. Right now, the Federal tax structure, the Government-abetted union policies of large increases in wage and fringe benefits coupled with insistence of featherbedding, and growing Government competition have slowed down the expansion of business.

Washington programs are no substitute for the creative energies of the whole population.

Inside You And Yours

Great Men And Big Toes

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

You have the same big toe problems as Benjamin Franklin, Alexander the Great and Martin Luther—gout, which many men inherit!

The base of your big toe looks like a swollen, red-hot bubble.

The trouble starts in your liver, where extra uric acid is manufactured and in your kidneys, which can't pour out enough.

Uric acid floods your system and crystals settle out everywhere. They irritate joints into inflammation, form chalky white lumps on ears and grow into kidney stones.

Stuffing yourself with organ meats like liver and sweetbreads may trigger sudden arthritics. Their protein changes into rivers of uric acid.

How It Starts

Feverish chills usher in the attack. Large joints may resemble boiled lobsters that need plastic surgery—and feel worse.

Blood tests reveal mountains of uric acid, but other kinds of arthritis raise the uric acid level, too.

To prove gout, colchicine has to cool all inflammation and fever. No one knows how colchicine works, but it doesn't help any other kind of arthritis.

Modern medicines like cortisone and phenylbutazone work faster, but they can't pinpoint gout. They help all kinds of arthritis.

Daily Doses

You'll have to take probenecid pills every day, just as the diabetes sufferer takes insulin. Probenecid keeps uric acid from building up and smashing joints out of shape.

You have to watch your diet too. One sardine makes a whale

About Town

Today's Horoscope:
If you were born this day—by tomorrow you will be one day old.

Eartha Kitt, an authority on men, has issued the following rules for knocking a husband into shape, which I copied from the Kingston, Jamaica, B.W.I., Daily Gleaner.

RULE 1. A woman should not let her husband get out of hand so that she eventually becomes a maid and cook and bed-warmer.

RULE 2. A wife should have one day off a week.

On that day the man should cook and clean and look after the kids.

RULE 3. Not only should she have a free day, she should have a holiday on her own too.

A separation by mutual consent. Paid for by the husband. A little time apart makes the two more appreciative of each other.

RULE 4. If a husband insists on going out with the boys, the wife should be free to go out with the boys too.

RULE 5. A man must be trained to talk to his wife about more things.

RULE 7. A man must notice when a woman gets her hair done or puts on something special.

(We left out rule 5 because of a disagreement.)

The honeymoon is over when there are more bills than coos.

How To Protect Yourself

It appears that the Treasury has gone mad in its search for more pennies. The proposal to put a withholding tax on interest on savings and on dividends may look like a scheme to soak the rich, to get after the tax-dodger. In fact, it will be a hardship on the widow and orphans, on those who have inherited small amounts and have to live on interest and dividends.

The idea that the person will be able to get the money back at the end of the year is nonsense. What will she live on in the meantime? The rich can send their money to Switzerland or invest in European businesses. The widow and orphan, the child who is dependent upon this kind of money to go to college, they cannot go to tax havens. They are stuck.

The only thing to do should this law be passed is to take the money out of savings banks and buy bonds or some such equity and hide it under the mattress. This could produce a financial panic but it would be of the Treasury's making. The idea of collect first and refund later will make the tax collectors even more hateful than they are now.

It is about time that the Congress restudied the entire question of taxes. Obviously the graduated income tax makes the rich richer and the poor poorer; it destroys incentive in initiative; it impoverishes the spirit of man; it is actually lowering the living standard of our people because a lower quality of goods is substituted.

Furthermore, it is morally wrong for the Treasury to employ stool-pigeons, informers, spies to go about seeking for information. These creatures, to get their percentage, pry into the private affairs of people, impersonate government agents, and it is reported, although I cannot prove it, some of them act as double agents, doing a little blackmail on the side.

The income tax on interest on savings banks accounts is particularly nasty and should be opposed actively. I, for one, will vote for no Senator or Representative who votes in favor of such an act, no matter which party he belongs to. I hope that all my readers will adopt the same attitude and will tell their Senators and Representatives so.

While the poor are being impoverished by taxes and every year the Treasury sees new ways of depriving Americans of their livelihood and while phony high wages, only part of which the worker gets, outprice our goods in world markets, no one bothers to find a more honest and more equitable way of collecting revenue.

The most satisfactory tax used in many countries, is the transaction tax, sometimes called by other names. This is a tax on every commercial transaction that actually takes place. It has the advantage of cutting out the take-first-and-refund-later device; it has nothing to do with deductions, with all the mish-mash about expense accounts.

Just as we now pay taxes all the time, so under the transaction tax, we shall be paying taxes all the time but it will be on actual transactions, not on taking the cream off the top. And it would be possible to get rid of the horde of tax investigators who fall upon the American people like locusts.

Nothing is more extreme than the proposed withholding tax on interest and dividends. If those in charge of our financial affairs cannot think better than that, we must protect ourselves from them.

This is something to be angry about because it strikes directly at those who do not have much money. If they want to soak the rich, why don't they go after the numbered accounts in Swiss banks? Why do we not tell Switzerland that unless they cooperate, we shall break off all relations with that country?

Extreme?

Dutch Treat Re-elects Dunning

Gilbert Dunning was re-elected as president of Dutch Treat Club at their final meeting of the season this week at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Other officers elected included Robert O. Schell, vice president; Mrs. Erie Schuchard, secretary; and Mrs. Ruth Brown, treasurer. Mrs. Brown in her summary of the year announced that from a balance of 67 cents in the treasury last year the club now has a balance of $122.

Dunning urged that this year's membership of 165 be increased to at least 175 for next season. Members voted on their choice of speakers.

Their final speaker, Jim Fowler, a leading authority on birds of prey, provoked one of the most animated question and answer periods of the season after his free-flying falcon had wheeled over the heads of the audience, and his giant Harpy eagle had demonstrated his cupped-wing spread. Fowler described the capture and training of the rare Harpy Eagle, one of the largest and most powerful birds in the world, in the rain forests of British Guiana, and the ancient art of falconry, dating back to 2000 BC.

In the course of his talk he marked the parallels to human behavior and corrected many misconceptions about birds of prey, whom he defended as necessary to maintain the balance of nature.

Both birds were on the platform, hooded, at the beginning of the program since, as he explained, they associate fear with sight rather than sound. They had been trained but not tamed, losing none of their ability to hunt, or their essential personality.

Man, he charged, has become the greatest predator of all and is feared by all other predatory animals in the world with the exception of the African crocodile.

He demonstrated the adaptation of the Harpy eagle to its densely foliated environment with cupped wings and a long tail for fast maneuverability, its leaf-like feathered crest for camouflage, the talons with which it stuns its prey — for the most part monkeys.

Sharp, Pointed Wings
Falcons, on the other hand, have sharp pointed wings, and dark marks under their eyes showing they hunt in open country and bright sunlight.

Training falcons or other birds of prey consists largely in narrowing their "escape zone" to zero by rewards and establishing a feeling of security. All animals have "escape distances," he pointed out, within the limits of which they will flee.

"Nearer than that is the "attack distance," he said, pointing out that humans also have these instinctive zones which determine thought.

Although he likened launching the falcon in the Penn-Stroud ballroom to "launching a jet in a barn," he did demonstrate how they are trained on signal to hunt and to return to the "lure".

Edward Hess presented the report of the nominating committee in the absence of Dr. Robert Brown who is recuperating in a Philadelphia hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Grant Bartholomew were welcomed as new members.

HOW TO MAKE THE MOST OF YOUR MONEY THROUGH YOUR SAVINGS ACCOUNT

You're probably looking forward to a lot of things in the future. Perhaps these include a new car, college for your youngsters, a nicer home, a long-planned trip, a more comfortable retirement. Well, the surest, best way to get them is to open a savings account at your bank and then save regularly.

How much should you save?

Some financial experts recommend that, as an adequate reserve, you ought to have from three to six months' salary in your savings account to meet emergencies. Anything over this can go towards your special goals.

As a general rule, the things you can anticipate—like the college expenses of your children—should be saved for systematically. In fact, if you open a special account for each major goal, you'll be surprised how rapidly your money will grow.

The others—the unexpected expenses—may justify a loan. Remember, when you save money you earn interest, when you borrow money, you pay interest.

If your monthly salary after taxes is . . .

$200 to $300	$7 to $30
$300 to $400	$25 to $50
$400 to $500	$50 to $90

Countdown time . . . 5, 4, 3, 2, 1, ZERO. America's heart skipped a beat. We held our breath through hours of suspense. And finally, the rescue. Mission accomplished.

Immediate reaction: "Thank God!" This was the cry of America, the mighty prayer which rose from its heart in a spontaneous flash of gratitude. THANK GOD.

It was pride we felt, pride in our skill and our scientific knowledge. But there was something more. There was FAITH. When man travels into the unknown, he needs the hand of God.

* * * *

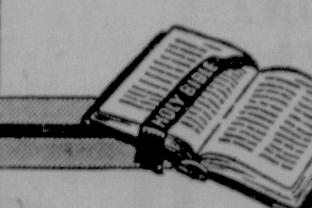

A new age has begun for mankind. Many more great days of exploration are ahead. Man will need the best products of mind and hand to conquer space.

But through every accomplishment, he will continue to need faith. Always from his heart will rise a fervent prayer, knowing that Divine help must be with him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mrs. Roy Williams Heads New Barrett Junior Women

Barrett—Officers were elected at the Barrett Junior Women's Club meeting held Thursday night in the Barrett Branch YMCA absence of the president.

Elected to be installed at the May meeting were: Mrs. W. Roy Williams, president; Mrs. Dale Price, first vice president; Mrs. D. Neil Leister, second vice president; Mrs. Joseph Bender, Jr., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Roger Lindsey, recording secretary and Mrs. Richard Williams, treasurer.

Due to possible infringement of a Service Mark, the club name will be changed from the Barrett Junior Women's League to the Barrett Junior Women's Club. This amendment will be voted on at the next meeting.

The proposed teen-age dances to be sponsored by the club in co-operation with the Barrett Branch YMCA were discussed. A May target date will be set for the first dance which will feature a disc jockey and a recording star.

A variety show to be scheduled in the fall was tabled pending further information.

Miss Nuala Downey, Rotary Exchange student at East Stroudsburg State College has been invited to speak on her country, New Zealand at the May 10 meeting. She will show colored slides and provide comparison between the United States and her island home.

Members participating in the Wedding Gown Revue to be held in the East Stroudsburg State College Auditorium May 3 passed the motion to set the meeting date up to May 10.

The executive board meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dale Price April 1 at 8:30 p.m. A date will be discussed for William Cuthers, Barrett Township supervisor to address the club. He was unable to attend the meeting and will be asked to speak in the near future.

Barrett girls who are seniors at the Pocono Mountain Joint School will receive written invitations to attend the May meeting. The membership is open to any young woman between the ages of 18 and 35 who would wish to join. The specific aim of the organization is to raise funds to aid the "High Acres" tract, concerning the pendulum.

We could only hope that he did his homework during the summer when the cathedral would be a cool oasis in the heat. In March, the chill that pervades those great stone buildings is something that creeps into your very bones, a pervasive and inexorable as the chill of death. We all stood shivering for a while outside in the weak sunshine before we went into the matching Baptistry which contains the famous pulpit carved by Nicola Pisano in 1260 which was to influence Michelangelo, who often stopped in Pisa on his way from Florence to choose his marble blocks from the nearby hills.

Remembered bits from "The Agony and the Ecstasy" were very much with us, and while we were wishing we had brought a copy with us, the guard let out a low and resounding "Booing" which echoed back from the Baptistry's double dome above. He sounded another note, slightly higher, and soon we had a whole octette echoing back and forth above our heads in organ tones.

The echoes seemed to accompany us as we toured the Camposanto, or Cemetery, near by whose famous frescoes had been almost ruined by the rain and tar which had leaked on them when the roof was bombed during the war.

The cemetery is a busy place these days as experts are trying to salvage what remains of the frescoes from an intricate process of transferring them to canvas and then back to the walls. Despite the sarcophagi from classic and early Christian era which ring its portico, it was also a happy sort of place with the smell of new cut grass and the tiny gold trumpets of the wild daffodils.

Steeped in antiquity, with the very paving stones beneath our feet dated before the time of Columbus, it was strange to return to the very modern, very handsome tourist bureau building, where a whole fleet of brand-new, shiny, black Fiat's were waiting to take us on the rest of the tour. Strange but comfortable — and they had their heaters on!

POA Officers Installed For Camp 235

Mount Pocono, Mount Poff
Mount Pocono—Officers of Camp 235 Patriotic Order of Americans were installed by the district president, Mrs. Grace Miller, Stroudsburg and her staff, at a meeting held at the Tannersville POS of A Hall.

Mrs. Arthur Keiper, president, was not able to be present because of illness. Other officers installed were Mrs. Lloyd Shaeffer, vice president; Mrs. Margaret Burkholder, vice president; Helen Starner, conductress; Mrs. Clair Hartman, guard; Mrs. C. L. Specht, chaplain; Charlotte Stoute, orator; Mildred Horne, pianist; Virginia Simmons, secretary-treasurer; and Mildred Horn, financial secretary.

The state convention will be held in Scranton April 29 to May 2. Mrs. Shaeffer was elected delegate and Mrs. Helen Starner, alternate. Plans were also made to attend the district meeting in Kresgeville on Wednesday when members are asked to wear long white dresses.

Refreshments were served from an Easter table with Mrs. Clair Hartman presiding.

School Band To Play For Parents Assn.

The Parents Assn. of St. Matthew's Parochial School will meet Monday night at 8 when the school band under the direction of Walter Lane will give a preview of their Spring band concert.

There will be no classes at the school on Thursday, April 12 which is Diocesan Music Day and which is also the day when the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the school auditorium from 10:45 to 6:45 p.m.

Members were asked to give blood or to secure a donor in their place.

At the meeting on Monday night school classwork will be on display.

Willing Workers At Farry Home

The Willing Workers Class of Arlington Heights Chapel met this week at the home of Mrs. Nancy Farry, Crestview Drive, with 17 members present.

Mrs. Gilbert led the devotions. At the social hour, the class presented Mrs. Farry with a gift for her new home. Mrs. Herbert Pooley and Mrs. Anna Fritz gave a sketch.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fritz and her daughter, Nancy.

A hayride has been planned for the last Sunday night in April.

Debators Score At PM PTA

Swiftwater, The Pocono Mountains School debating team was featured at the April meeting of the school's Parent-Teachers Assn.

George Watson, assistant chairman, outlined the history of debate procedure and John Watson was debate moderator.

Debating the topic "Federal Aid to Education," the affirmative team included John Woodling and William Gaskill; and the negative team John and Norbert Ryan.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Shirley Curtis, Mrs. Doris Headrick and Mrs. Dorothy Wieski were elected to the nominating committee and Mrs. Marie Gravett to the auditing committee.

Fidelia Class Names Com'tees

Mrs. George Stabenow presided at the business meeting of the Fidelia Class of St. John's Lutheran Church after the Lenten service this week.

Communion committees were selected for the Wednesday and Thursday night services of Holy Week. The class voted to buy lilies for the Easter service.

A committee including Mrs. Edwin Buck, Mrs. Stabenow and Mrs. Mitchell Stackhouse volunteered to clean the church kitchen on Tuesday, April 10. The class will buy the supplies.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mitchell Stackhouse on May 2.

The program will be preceded by a dessert at 1:30.

Mrs. Metzgar President Of WSCS

Anolomink, Mrs. Wayne Metzgar was elected president of the Anolomink Women's Society of Christian Service at their April meeting held at the home of Mrs. George Miller.

Other officers elected included Mrs. Ervin Nase, vice president; Mrs. Raymond Smiley, treasurer; Mrs. Adelaide Nauman, devotions; Mrs. Herbert Cramer, publicity.

The office of secretary was left unfilled until the May meeting at the home of Mrs. Herman Pensyl when the new officers will take charge.

Deotions were conducted by Mrs. Harold Nauman. At the business meeting plans were made for a supper to be served in the POS of A Hall on April 28 with the menu featuring spaghetti or barbecue platter. Anyone wishing to donate food for the supper may call Mrs. Ervin Nase or Mrs. Herman Pensyl.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Harold Nauman, Mrs. Stanley Hallett, Mrs. Raymond Smiley, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. LuLu Detrick, Mrs. Herman Pensyl, Mrs. Ervin Nase, Mrs. May Cramer, Mrs. Wayne Metzgar, Miss Florence Bates, Mrs. Sadie Metzgar and Mrs. Herman Pensyl.

Red Cross Reports Presented

MRS. H. Jack LaBar reported to Monroe County Chapter American Red Cross that 157 volunteers served 1,322 and one-half hours during the past month.

She said the home service committee handled 10 active cases, 18 telegrams, 22 long distance telephone calls, and 12 office interviews.

Joseph DeRenzis reported that the March Blood Drive at East Stroudsburg State College was successful and the date for the next blood drive is Thursday, April 12, in St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church.

Chairman of the 1962 fund raising campaign, Ray Roberts, reported the drive is "progressing nicely".

Dr. George Ockershausen, first aid chairman, said a first aid class will begin Wednesday, April 11, in the VFW Home, Stroudsburg. The instructor will be Mrs. Helen Taylor. Classes will start at 7:30 p.m.

The chapter is conducting a life saving and water safety program in the Swiftwater area and has 25 people enrolled in the class.

A spokesman for the motor service corps reported 18 trips were made to various parts of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York during the past year. Total miles traveled were 3,449.

The motor corps reported five new members were added to its rolls.

James Gould reported on talks delivered at the Pleasant Valley Joint High School dealing with the blood drive and fund raising campaign.

Chapter officials approved the annual meeting date as May 24. They will announce the time and location later.

New Area Playhouse Slated Here

THE new Cherry Lane Playhouse will open on or about June 11 featuring "The Crucible," "Our Town" and "Charlie's Aunt." James Stevenson, Ferdinand Hooker and Robert E. Irwin will produce the summer repertory with eight shows a week. Special children's puppet matinees are scheduled as are classical and semi-classical concerts.

A rebuilt barn at Cherry Lane, East Stroudsburg, RD 3, has been designed in the style of Greek arena theaters. A cast of Broadway, television and motion picture actors will work with a New York director on the upcoming repertory.

Jack Irwin, a member of the resident company, will sing at the Cherry Blossom Festival, Washington, D. C., April 6. He sang at the Inaugural Ball.

Tickets may be purchased by subscription or for individual performances with special rates for groups.

Portland Retains Accountant

MR. AND MRS. Russell Van Buskirk Sr., have returned from a vacation in St. Petersburg, Florida, and Laredo, Texas. While traveling, they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagner, former Greentown residents.

Lois Frick, Sterling, will become the bride of Thomas R. Tufts on April 7 at Sterling Methodist Church at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. John Muller Sr., has been a patient at Holiday Hill, Nursing Home, after being hospitalized at Wayne County Memorial Hospital, Homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Voeste, Sr., Huckleberry Hill, entertained in honor of Mrs. Voeste's mother, Mrs. William Fitz, who observed her 80th birthday anniversary. There were 28 guests, and decorations were in a pink and white theme.

Dr. Ockershausen Is Back As Head Coach

ESSC Opens '62 Diamond Season At Trenton Today

EAST Stroudsburg State College baseball will be back under the direction of veteran baseballer Dr. George Ockershausen today as the Warriors open their 1962 season.

East Stroudsburg will meet Trenton (N.J.) State Teachers at 1:30 p.m. at the latter's campus.

During the past weeks, Ockershausen had the squad in daily afternoon practices and a number of intersquad games.

Dr. Ockershausen resumed the coaching this season after taking a sabbatical leave last year. This is his tenth year as the head of baseball at the college.

Coach Ockershausen reports the pitching department is shaping up nicely with veterans Thomas Barlow, a senior from Ringtown, Billy Lewis, a junior from Bristol and Leroy Smith, from Milan pacing the Warrior hurlers. Barry Greenville and John Petronis, a freshman from Scranton give solid support to the staff.

Narbis Is Newcomer

Michael Narbis of East Stroudsburg is a newcomer to the hurling alignment. Narbis is a freshman.

In the infield, Rich Carroll, a past star performer, will be set second, Carroll is a senior from Taylor, Also Tom Rider, another veteran, from Catawissa, will be at the shortstop position. Charles Ockerhausen did not release the starting hurler, but indications are it will probably be Bill Lewis or Tom Barlow both righthanders, with lefty Leroy Smith a close second.

The outfield finds Lou Pacchiali, former Eastern High football and baseball star covering the right-field lanes. Pacchiali is a sophomore. Barry Wray, a senior from Upper Darby, takes centerfield and Ed Kroll, a sophomore from Nanticoke, will likely be in left-field.

Outfield Group

The outfield department is already backed, however, with William Ambrose, a sophomore from Ringtown, and Donald Keller, a freshman from Quakertown.

Jim Wilde, a senior from Califon, N.J., Ron Hayes, a sophomore from Belvidere, N.J., John Ferguson, a sophomore who hails from Clifton, N.J., David Rittenhouse from North Wales, a freshman, are pegged as ready for action.

Ken Welgoss, a junior from Alden Station, near Nanticoke, is the student coach.

Fred Masenheimer, a junior from Hanover heads the managerial duties. He is assisted by Jay Levy, a sophomore from Cheltenham and Ray White, a freshman from Pawtucket, R.I.

Celtics Need Ramsey's Aid Against LA

BOSTON (AP) — Boston needs more teamwork — and Frank Ramsey — for Saturday's playoff finals opener against Los Angeles, Capt. Bob Cousy said Friday.

The Celtics, still emotionally spent from Thursday night's 107-105 Eastern Division title triumph over Philadelphia, launch the final phase of their National Basketball Association championship defense Saturday afternoon.

The Lakers' great Elgin Baylor has a weekend pass from his Army chores as a private, and will fly in for the televised encounter (NBC-TV, 2:30 p.m. EST). The second game will be here Sunday, then the next two of the best-of-7 series moves to Los Angeles Tuesday and Wednesday.

"We didn't run last night against Philadelphia," Cousy said. "We lacked cohesion. We'll have to play better than that against Los Angeles."

The fact that the Lakers have been able to relax since wrapping up their series with Detroit Tuesday doesn't bother me. Momentum means a lot to us. But back-to-back games tend to nullify the home court advantage.

"We need Ramsey. We don't realize how much we miss him until he's out."

Dear Abby

Start Campaigning!

Dear Abby: I am 50 years old and unmarried. I don't care if you call me an "Uncrowned Treasure or Old Maid." My complaint is that I have bought countless gifts for bridal showers and baby showers with no hope of getting anything back. Why doesn't the government declare OLD MAID'S DAY so girls like me can get even?

GIFT GIVER

Dear Giver: A beautiful idea. Write to your Congressman!

Dear Abby: What is your opinion of a family of 5 girls and 3 boys (all married with nice homes) who stick one brother with their 80-year-old father? He has made his home with us for 12 years. I am the "good" daughter-in-law. ("Sap" would be more like it.) He used to work part time, but now he is unable to work and is under my feet all day and all night. We asked if some of the others would take him for a few weeks and they flatly refused. I never have a free moment. He takes several naps every day but is in the living room 14 hours a day.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Sat. April 7, 1962 November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Optimism, justice and a desire for good influences but a warning against a carefree attitude wherein you do not bother to ascertain enough of sure facts and figures, careless to do.

Maintain poise. Dec. 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — A wisp of light humor can put the added sparkle into this day, to bring it out of the dark clouds which are casting for shun discontent, so many fine chores await attention!

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Walk out trying more seriously than usual, and confident; this attitude itself begets superior results, keeps your demeanor trim, as well as your mood, requires. Ask favors in order.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — May seem a long time between racing moments. Your tempo of activity is constant, but you find returns. Outer attractiveness does not mean same picture exists with in take due care.

YOU BORN TODAY are eager, usually extremely sure, resolute, and reach for admirably high goals. Tend to burn up too much energy. Regulate your day and night, however, so that you are reasonable, and don't worry if you must exclude some items, activities. Once you start on a venture, you embark on it with true worthiness, for you can be tricked as all of us not wary. Don't anticipate failure, but hold your determination strong here. You love family, can be hurt at things they do not measure as such. If you do not win at first try, however, do not let it stop you from making speedily changes and succeed doubly well on second or third try: snap up this new and unique opportunity for expression, and some expansion this year. Birthdate of: St. Francis Xavier, apostle of the Indies; Wm. Wordsworth, English poet; many vivacious public speakers, lecturers.

March 21 to September 22 (Virgo) — A Mercury trine aspect gaining strength! Good! You should be able to make your mark on your status, help others. Much will depend upon how you do things your approach. Happy going!

September 23 to October 22 (Libra) — A few things that can build this week end into the evening, your desire for relaxation from week tension, may come suddenly with friends, relatives, intellectual pursuits.

October 23 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Consider all circumstances before making decisions or drawing conclusions that can't be easily reversed. Some hidden or less discernible factors. Display your fine stamina.

Children To Attend Shrine Circus

Dear Abby: If you are at a restaurant and someone stops by your table to say hello, but stands there and talks while your food is on the table, are you suppose to (1) go right on eating? (2) stop and let your food get cold? VICTIM

Dear Victim: If the person says more than hello and it looks like a long siege, invite him to sit down and say, "My food was just served and I would like to eat it while it's hot—I hope you won't mind." If this doesn't make him disappear, nothing will.

HAD MY FILL
Dear Dad: (And you were.) Since the father is your husband's, the problem should be handled by him. Your husband should gather his brothers and sisters together and ANNOUNCE that they are just as responsible for the care of their father as he is. There are enough of them to pitch in and give him all the comforts of a nice day. He takes several naps every day but always on the living room sofa. I am ready for a nervous breakdown. Can you blame me?

Fire Destroys Garage, Barn

FIRE Thursday afternoon destroyed a two-story barn and single garage on the property of Elmer Lehr on Route 611 in Riegelsville with loss estimated at $5,000 to $6,000.

The Riegelsville Fire Co. fought the blaze for one and one-half hours. A nearby garage owned by David Sutton was saved.

Fire Chief Clair Frankenstein said the cause could not be determined immediately.

Kiwanis To See Short Play

A short play will be presented at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club, Wednesday, in the Penn-Stroud Hotel. The cast are students in East Stroudsburg State College.

At its recent meeting Henry Tucker was elected as delegate to the international convention to be held in Denver, Colo., in June. Clarence Dupee was elected alternate delegate to the convention.
